Tracy Jones by Stephen Kaplan

Directed by Meg Berger

Tracy Jones: Oct 10, 11, 12, 17, 18, 19, 24, and two shows on Oct 25th (2pm matinee and 8pm evening show)

Tracy Jones has rented out the back “party room” of Jones Street Bar and Grill—the Place for Wings (and Things). Tracy Jones is throwing a party to which she’s invited every woman in the United States who is also named Tracy Jones. Tracy Jones has been sitting for over an hour alone, nursing her Diet Coke, waiting for any other Tracy Joneses to show up. Tracy Jones’s epic loneliness is about to be tested beyond anything she ever imagined.

Intimate Apparel by Lynn Nottage

Directed by Byron Keys

Intimate Apparel: Jan 23, 24, 25, 30, 31, Feb 1, 6, and two shows on Feb 7th (2 pm matinee and 8 pm evening show)

In 1905 New York City, Esther, a black seamstress, is in great demand for the intimate apparel she creates for clients who range from wealthy white patrons to prostitutes. Though leading a life that provides joy to so many, she remains lonely and longing for a husband and a future. Through a mutual acquaintance, she begins a correspondence with a lonesome Caribbean man named George and soon he persuades her that they should marry, sight unseen. However, Esther’s heart is drawn to the Hasidic shopkeeper from whom she buys cloth, and his heart with her. When George arrives in the city, Esther is hit with the reality of the situation and she is forced to face a future that she is truly unprepared for.

My Mother, The Serial Killer by Erin Osgood

Directed by Karen McHugh and AnnMarie Payne

My Mother, The Serial Killer: April 17, 18, 19, 24, 25, 26, May 1, and two shows on May 2nd (2 pm matinee and 8 pm evening show)

The season concludes with the thrilling and mysterious My Mother, the Serial Killer by Erin Osgood, directed by Karen McHugh and AnnMarie Payne. When Nova is accused of poisoning her schoolmate and friend, she teams up with her lawyer and maid to uncover the truth. As she delves deeper into the mysterious events surrounding the death, long-buried family secrets emerge. Nova discovers that her mother, a famous actress, may be tied to a series of unsettling incidents. This suspenseful, twist-filled play keeps the audience guessing until the final revelation, asking the question: how well can we ever truly know those closest to us?
